DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-23 are pending.

Response to Arguments

2. The nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejections of claim 1-23 have been withdrawn in view of the approved Terminal Disclaimer filed 6/30/2009.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 1-23 are allowed.
4. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:
5. The prior art fails to disclose or suggest all limitations of the claimed invention, a method for permitting an instance of an application to operate in recovery mode while ensuring reliable message processing for messages received during the recovery mode operations of the instance governing a transaction, wherein a transaction is an exchange of messages following a particular message exchange pattern with a particular client system, with particular emphasis on an act of determining that a received message corresponding to a particular message transaction from among multiple transactions, is a normal message suitable for normal mode operations with respect to the particular message transaction, wherein the received message cannot be processed by the instance governing the particular message transaction until the instance governing the particular message transaction is in the normal mode; an act of placing the received message into a persistent queue associated with the instance governing the particular transaction for later processing when the instance governing the particular transaction is in the normal mode rather than the recovery mode, wherein messages related to other transactions continue to be processed if they are in the normal mode; and an act of completing recovery mode operation for the instance governing the particular transaction.

6. Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
